Email Communication to GPD's

December 2009

December 16: Technology Conference, Berlin, Germany, 15-17 January 2010 and Bilboa, Spain, 25-27 March 2011 - Call for Papers
Forwarded on behalf of Joanne Kremble

Dear Colleague,

On behalf of the Advisory Board, we would like to inform you of the:

SIXTH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON TECHNOLOGY, KNOWLEDGE AND SOCIETY
Freie Universit?t Berlin, Germany 15-17 January 2010
http://www.Technology-Conference.com

This Sixth International Conference on Technology, Knowledge and Society examines a range of critically important themes in the various fields that address the complex and subtle relationships between technology, knowledge and society. The Conference is cross-disciplinary in scope, a meeting point for technologists with a concern for the social and for social scientists with a concern for the technological. The focus is primarily, but not exclusively, on information and communications technologies.

The Technology Conference is held annually in different locations around the world. The Conference was inaugurated in February 2005 at the University of California, Berkeley, USA. It was held in Hyderabad, India in December 2005; Cambridge University, Cambridge, UK in 2007; Northeastern University, Boston, USA in 2008 and in Huntsville, USA in 2009. We are pleased to hold this year's Conference at the Freie Universit?t Berlin, Germany. In 2011, the conference will be held in Bilbao, Spain.

The 2010 Conference features the following Plenary Speakers:
* Christine Hine, University of Surrey, Surrey, UK
* Karim Gherab Martin, Harvard University, Cambridge, USA
* Alfred Nordmann, Technische Universit?t Darmstadt, Darmstadt, Germany
For more information on these Speakers, please visit the Conference website:
http://techandsoc.com/conference-2010/plenary-speakers/

In addition to Plenary Presentations, the Conference includes Parallel Presentations by practitioners, teachers and researchers. We invite you to respond to the Conference Call-for-Papers. Presenters submit their written papers for publication in the refereed International Journal of Technology, Knowledge and Society. If you are unable to attend the Conference in person, virtual registrations are also available which allow you to submit a paper for refereeing and possible publication in the Journal.

The deadline for the next round in the call for papers (a title and short abstract) is 24 December 2009. Future deadlines will be announced on the Conference website after this date. Proposals are reviewed within two weeks of submission. Full details of the Conference, including an online proposal submission form, may be found at the Conference website - http://www.Technology-Conference.com

In 2011, the Technology Conference will be held 25-27 March at the University of the Basque Country, Bilbao, Spain. Bilbao is the historic capital of the Biscay province and is an important economic and cultural center. The city is perhaps best know internationally for its critically acclaimed Guggenheim Museum, designed by Frank Gehry. For more details on the 2011 Conference, please visit the Conference website: http://techandsoc.com/conference-2011/.

We look forward to receiving your proposal and hope you will be able to join us in Berlin, Germany in January 2010.

Yours Sincerely,

Karim Gherab Martin
Visiting Research Scholar
Harvard University, Cambridge, USA
For the Advisory Board, International Conference on Technology, Knowledge and Society and The International Journal of Technology, Knowledge and Society

***

If you have any inquiries about this conference, please send them by reply to this email. All emails are answered in person by one of our conference administrators within two working days.

Note: If you would like to be removed from this list, please reply to this email with the word 'Unsubscribe' in the subject line. Make sure that you send your request to unsubscribe from the same e-mail address that received this email.