

A Newsletter From the Ecumenical Chaplaincy

Brock University

June 2010

In 2010 the Multi-Faith Fair takes on new personality.

Last year, students gathered in the sky-lounge to attract passers-by. This year, after several meetings and much discussion, the Multi-Faith Fair presented a more serious side to life on campus.

Each student group chose one presenter, and each presenter addressed the question, "Faith on Campus: Challenges and Benefits." There followed a general question and answer period involving all the students. Over 50 students participated in Multi-Faith Fair 2010. It was a provocative and vibrant time.

Above, presenters and participants in Multi-Faith 2010

A letter was received at the Chaplaincy office from the students extending thanks to the supporting denominations of the Ecumenical Chaplaincy.

Programs like the Multi-Faith Fair enable the exploration and growth of faith on campus.

Ecumenical Chaplaincy holds a bake sale with students to support Haiti relieve efforts

From World Religions Conference 2010

Have David Speak at Your Church

I will be happy lead a workshop on contemporary theological questions or be a guest preacher at your church. Here are the Sundays I am available for 2010/2011:

2010

September 12
October 17
November 21
December 12

2011

January 16
February 13
March 13
April 17
May 15
June 18

*David Galston,
Ecumenical Chaplain
Brock University*

Some Highlights from Campus Ministry 2009/2010

- 3 Lectures about Christianity in Brock classes
- Haiti Memorial on campus
- World Religions Conference
- Student Counseling

Sacred Books Collection

This year the Ecumenical Chaplaincy started a Sacred Books collection for the campus Chaplaincy lounge. Our first gift was receive from